The Mayan Riviera

THE DEVELOPMENT of Cancún (see p279), and other smaller resorts, has brought profound changes to the Yucatan's east coast. Now known as the Mayan Riviera, it is a major tourist destination, and it is easy to see why. As well as idyllic sandy beaches and warm waters, the coast has the second longest coral reef in the world, providing ideal conditions for snorkeling and diving.

Playa del Carmen is quickly becoming the second biggest resort on the coast after Cancún. The town has a relaxed atmosphere and Quinta Avenida, the main street, is lined with small shops, coffee bars, and traditional restaurants. Ferries to Cozumel leave from a pier close to the lively central square.

Akumal is an uncrowded resort based around what was once a coconut plantation. Its beautiful beach is a breeding ground for green turtles, and migrating whale sharks can sometimes be spotted swimming past in December and January. In the past decade, the sheltered bay has increasingly attracted windsurfers, divers, and snorkelers.

Xel-Ha nature preserve is a series of interconnecting lagoons set among spectacular rocks and caves. A huge variety of tropical fish swim in its beautifully clear waters. For years it was government-run and rather neglected, but it is now franchised to the same company that operates Xcaret. It has taken on a new lease of life, offering superb snorkeling and diving.

Tulum Playa, the most easy-going resort along the coast, is essentially a rapidly growing strip of beach-huts and a handful of restaurants, bordering a magnificent sandy beach. Nearby is the Maya Mayan site of Tulum (see pp284-5).

Puerto Morelos is the least developed place on the Riviera, a small, laid-back resort built around a fishing village. There is excellent snorkeling and diving on the reef just offshore.

Isla Mujeres ⑦

Quintana Roo. passenger ferry from Puerto Juárez, car ferry from Punta Sam. Palacio Municipal, Avenida Hidalgo, (0987) 7 00 98.

THIS SMALL ISLAND is just 1 km (half a mile) wide by 8 km (5 miles) long. Its name, meaning "The Island of Women," probably derives from Maya female statues found here and destroyed by the Spanish. It has developed considerably since first becoming popular in the 1960s, but there are few high-rise buildings, and its small town is still relatively quiet, especially in the evening when the day trippers from Cancún have left.

A life-guard's lookout on Playa Los Cocos

The best way to explore the island is on a bike or scooter. Its middle part is taken up by a brackish lagoon and an airstrip for small planes from the mainland. Also in the island's center is the ruined Mundaca Hacienda, said to have been built by the pirate Fernán Múndaca to try to win the love of an island beauty.

Playa Los Cocos, located just to the north of the island's only town, has clean white sand and warm shallow water. At Isla Mujeres' rather rugged southern tip are the Garrafón National Park, and Playa de Gárrafón. The exciting diving offered by the coral reef just offshore here is one of the main reasons for visiting the island. The snorkeling is also spectacular, but the beach gets very crowded in the middle of the day. Nearby are the ruins of what is said to be an old Maya lighthouse, as well as a more modern one.

ENVIRONS: A popular day trip from Isla Mujeres is to Isla Contoy, a tiny island 30 km (19 miles) away, off the northern tip of the Yucatán Peninsula. It is located at the northernmost part of the barrier reef, where the waters of the Caribbean Sea and Gulf of Mexico meet. The mingling currents create ideal conditions for plankton — food for the many fish, which in turn support an abundant bird life. Over 50 species of birds, including large flocks of egrets, pelicans, frigate birds, and flamingos, nest on the island, which is now a protected nature preserve.

PALACE RESORTS FACILITATE YOUR TRAVEL REQUIREMENTS

CDC expands negative COVID-19 test requirement to all air passengers entering the United States.

To comply with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention guidelines, where all air passengers entering the United States will need to provide a negative COVID-19 test before boarding their flight; Palace Resorts and Le Blanc Spa Resorts are pleased to expand our Purely Palace and Purely Le Blanc programs.

- Now all our resorts throughout Mexico & Jamaica will offer easy, onsite COVID-19 antigen (rapid) testing.
- Tests will be conducted on property at no cost to guests (for up to two guests per room) traveling to the United States.*
- Testing and samples will be administered by experienced in-house lab teams.
- Results will be received within 30 minutes, and documentation will be ready for guests to present at the airport for their journey back home.
- Guests can contact the concierge to schedule their departure test as soon as they check in.

For guests traveling to countries requiring PCR testing instead, our concierge teams will help facilitate testing onsite through a third party. Additional fees will apply.

Should a guest test positive, preventing departure, Palace Resorts and Le Blanc Spa Resorts will cover the cost of quarantine for up to 14 days at no cost to guests, for up to two guests per room should both guests test positive.

Additional rapid tests will be available at a minimal cost of $19 per guest.

At Palace Resorts, the safety and wellbeing of our guests and employees are our top priorities. Our goal is always to make your vacation as comfortable and memorable as it is safe.

*Free tests apply exclusively guests traveling to the US with a check-out date on or after January 26, 2021 who have booked a minimum of 3 nights at our resorts. Not applicable to complimentary or compensatory stays.

Should guests test positive for a period longer than 14 days, an exclusive rate of $199 USD per night will apply for up to 3 guests in the same room. If guests want to isolate themselves but have additional family members that wish to stay, guests can book additional rooms at $199 USD per night for up to four people, in a standard (run of house) room. Guests who have tested positive will be accommodated in a designated COVID area of the resort.
